Pacific Mourns the Loss of Dr. Paul Richmond

After undergoing extensive heart surgery, Pacific professor and chair of the biology department, Dr. Paul Richmond passed away in late August. Richmond was a member of the faculty for 26 years, and served as chair for 12 years.

Dean Gary Miller writes, "Paul was an extraordinary man of great kindness and intellect. He was a wise and visionary leader, who understood the limitless creativity and energy of his colleagues and worked with little fanfare to enable them to excel. He was a true and patient friend who expressed his friendship through encouragement, humor, and forgiveness. He was a warm and loving soul who gave freely, took little, and always looked to the future."

Per his family’s request, there will be no funeral service. However, there will be an opportunity later this semester for Paul’s friends, colleagues, and students to gather on campus to remember and celebrate his life. The University community will be informed of those plans as they develop. The family has asked that in lieu of cards and flowers, expressions of support and sympathy take the form of donations to the new Biological Sciences Center. Donations may be sent directly to University Advancement in memory of Paul Richmond.

Career Resource Center and Alumni Association Launch TIDES

This fall the Career Resource Center, in partnership with the Pacific Alumni Association, launched Pacific Tigers Involved in Developing Experiences for Students (TIDES), a volunteer mentoring program designed to connect Pacific alumni with current students who are in search of career-related information and insight.

As a Pacific TIDES Volunteer, you choose the number of students that contact you, the specific information released, and how you want to be contacted. Volunteering can be a fun and rewarding experience.

To become a Pacific TIDES volunteer, visit http://www.pacific.edu/studentlife/CRC/Alumni_TIDES_registration.asp
