The question has often been posed, “What does Pacific do for the Community?” In this editor’s opinion, the question might more appropriately be asked, “What doesn’t Pacific do for the community?” In addition to the nearly 10,000 hours of community service and various outreach programs and activities over the past year, the Pacific community reaches out to those in need each holiday season. BELOW ARE JUST A FEW HIGHLIGHTS OF PACIFIC STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT THIS FALL.

Pacific Speech and Debate Society Ranked 12th in the Nation
The Pacific Speech & Debate Society (PSDS) continues to reign at the top, with a national team ranking of 12th. Two of Pacific’s teams are ranked in the top 50 in the U.S.

Pacific PSDS took home first place at the Golden Gate Invitational at UC Berkeley and defeated schools such as UCLA, UC Berkeley, and University of Washington. At Azusa Pacific, they competed in a two-tournament competition, finishing fourth out of 35 schools in the first, and fifth out of 37 schools in the second tournament. In mid-November, Pacific hosted thirty-five schools and 500 college students from around the nation in the largest speech and debate tournament in the country. Pacific Teams took second in parliamentary debate, first and second in open duo interpretation, and first in novice impromptu.

In the past year, Pacific students expanded SCOPE services by 75%. The program brought in 45 children.

Cans collected during competition were donated to emergency Food Bank

In October, the Greek Community took part in two events to collect and donate canned food items to the Stockton Emergency Food Bank. A Can Castle competition and a “trick-or-treat” for canned food items from the community yielded a total of 2,244 canned food items.

The Staff Advisory Council sponsors two holiday gift giving outreach programs: a collaboration with “News 10 Coats for Kids” and the Adopt-a-Family Program. In 2005, The Pacific community donated 350 coats to needy children. New or gently-used coats of all sizes can be dropped into collection boxes located all around campus until December 15. For information contact ERC@pacific.edu. In the Adopt-a-Family program, organizations such as United Cerebral Palsy, Easter Seals, and The Child Abuse Prevention Council, provide families in need of “adoption.” Individuals or departments provide household necessities, gifts, and a holiday meal. Last year 27 families were adopted and this year 29 families have been adopted to date. To participate, contact holiday@pacific.edu.

The University Library and Rho Delta Chi collaborate to collect canned food for the Emergency Food Bank and used school items for the Mary Graham Children’s Shelter. The Library will waive $2.00 in library fines for each can donated. Donations will be accepted through December 14. For more information contact Gail Stovall at 209.946.2954 or gstovall@pacific.edu.

Pacific Women Connect collects clothing donations to assist area residents with suitable attire for job interviews and work. All sizes of gently-used clothing and shoes are welcome. SYMPOSIUM FOR WORKING MUSICIANS

In an effort to advance working musicians and aspiring professional musicians, the faculty of the Conservatory of Music and San Joaquin Delta College are teaming up to present the “Working Musicians Symposium.” The event will begin at 10:00 am on December 2 in the Recital Hall on Pacific’s Stockton campus. It is free and open to the public.

Featured speakers include Pacific alumni Dave Riddles and Phil Schroeder. Riddles has performed on more than 600 major motion picture soundtracks. Producer Phil Schroeder of Green Street Music has composed music for television, radio, and film.

The event is geared toward musicians of all ages and skill levels interested in learning the promotion skills essential to marketing themselves as artists and entertainers. There will be workshops including "How to Make the Most of an Audition" and "How to Build a Promo Kit," as well as a panel discussion with local concert promoters and arts presenters providing advice to artists.

Brian Kendrick and Patrick Langham, directors of Jazz Studies at Delta and Pacific, will be leading workshops. Keith Hatschek, director of the Music Management Program, is producing the conference with support from an NCAGE mini-grant. Pacific’s student Music Management Club is assisting with local promotions and production.
