

Teaching Statement

Every student has potential, but not all share my zeal, so I bring enthusiasm, empirical evidence, and examples to the classroom. I show students how to rigorously analyze current and past issues in the US and the global economy. In order to make macroeconomics exciting and tangible I always present raw data to back-up or open the door to discussion of economic theories.