Five L’s of Flooding: Love, Live, Levee, Liability, Local

9/25, 26 and 27
William Price, Emeritus Professor
Operations and Engineering Management

The water cycle brings us our water supply in natural flows over terrain that is flat, mild or steep. These flows, as surface water, vary with weather patterns; yet allow us to consume this precious resource. Are we able to cope with random flows without inundating people, property and economies? Sometimes our supply is “too little;” in other times it is “too much.” To store runoff for later use and prevent water spreading outside its traditional river bed, we create dams and levees. “Too often” these embankments fail, causing minor/major disasters. Are designs “too weak;” are we “too close” to natural streams? We need to understand why we “fail to prevent flooding.”

Understanding Atheism: An Open Look at the Non-Religious

10/2, 3 and 4
David Diskin, Activist
California Secular Rights

A Pew survey found that 12% of Californians express “no belief in God,” with some identifying as atheists, agnostics, Humanists, or simply “none of the above.” But what do atheists believe, if anything? From where do they get their inspiration or purpose? What has led them to a worldview without supernaturality? In his talk, lifelong atheist David Diskin will reflect on his personal journey as an activist for secular rights and provide us with a closer look at the growing community of atheists. David will explore the oft-confused definition of atheism, misconceptions of atheists, and a history of atheism that takes us back thousands of years to the Pygmy tribes in Africa.

Stockton Diversity History

10/9, 10 and 11
Michael Wurtz, Head of Holt-Atherton Special Collections, Pacific Library

The Holt-Atherton Special Collections in University of the Pacific Library provides insights into the diverse history and people of Stockton within its hundreds of archival collections. In a series of vignettes, Michael Wurtz will explore Stockton’s diversity as represented in Pacific’s archival holdings. Historic city directories tell us about settlement patterns in Stockton and reflect racial prejudice. The University Collection also includes documents on topics such as early slave emancipation, Japanese sports, Filipino life in the Delta, the Stockton State Hospital, the Mexican Methodist Church, the Chinese Christian Center, the building of the crosstown freeway, and an Immigrant Women Oral History Collection. These stories are here and ready to be discovered, researched, and interpreted by anyone with an interest in our community and its history.

Water Fountain with Special Effects

10/16, 17 and 18
Said Shakerin, Professor
Mechanical Engineering

In this lecture, Said Shakerin will provide a historical journey through the fascinating topic of water fountains that have been designed for a variety of reasons over thousands of years. The emphasis of this lecture will be on fountains that incorporate elements of surprise. Artistic and technology features will be presented with ample examples and video clips. Instructions for a simple do-it-yourself water fountain will be shared.

Experiencing the Art of Rome

10/23, 24 and 25 (10/23 and 10/25 lectures will begin at 3pm)
Deanna Hunt, Adjunct Professor
Visual Arts

Be dazzled by the glorious artworks in Rome, viewed as if walking through the city. Rome is often called an outdoor museum. While the Vatican holds the largest collection of art in the world, one can experience some of Rome’s greatest treasures walking through its center. Gain appreciation for the beauty, uniqueness and stylistic characteristics of these masterpieces of art and architecture. Learn how the historical context, close proximity and location of the works in the city influenced their creation. Your guide,
Deanna Hunt, who lived in Italy for ten years and has been leading tours to Italy for decades, will enlighten you about her "top ten" artworks...and perhaps even some local tips. This lecture is part one in a two part series, Experiencing the Art.

The Legend of Sleepy Hollow and the American Revolution

10/30, 31 and 11/1

George Yagi, Instructor
University College

For many, the mention of Hessian soldiers during the American Revolution immediately brings to mind the Headless Horseman from Washington Irving's classic tale, "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow." Waving his sword as he seeks to dispatch Ichabod Crane from his horse, the Hessian has been immortalized as a heartless mercenary who traveled to America for love of money and carnage. In this lecture, George Yagi will seek to separate the myth from reality, and show that their story is much different from the dark legend that has been popularized.

America's Foreign Policy in a World in Disarray, Part I: Trump's New Course for the U.S

11/6, 7 and 8

Gene Bigler, Retired Visiting Professor

Although the Trump administration has not yet tried to enact the full agenda suggested by the campaign, the president's opening gambits on the world stage embrace the nationalistic course of action he promised. To what extent do his initiatives, the focus on the military and other actions show the potential for strengthening America, reducing the costs of foreign policy and increasing the potential to benefit from our foreign relations and the global disarray?

America's Foreign Policy in a World in Disarray, Part II: A New Struggle for Order

11/13, 14 and 15

Gene Bigler, Retired Visiting Professor

In NATO, in world trade, in climate cooperation, and in regional politics the absence of U.S. leadership has spurred the search for alternative courses of action and advanced other leaders. What will be the impact on the U.S. and in these arenas? How will the global hotspots and challenges in North Korea, the war on terrorism, the Middle East, increasing nationalism, new failed states and other trends and challenges affect U.S. interests?

Tillie Lewis, the Tomato Queen

11/27, 28 and 29

Kyle Wood, Author and Historian

Kyle Elizabeth Wood will discuss the life and times of our central valley's own Tillie Lewis from a child of poverty in Brooklyn, New York's tenements (1896) to becoming the Queen of U.S. agriculture. Tillie centered upon Stockton and Modesto, but actually circled the globe in her vast accomplishments. Showgirl, spy, patriot, pirate, Duchess of Diet and Tomato Queen: Who was Tillie Lewis? Kyle Wood will share historic stories and photos to inform and enchant you. An author's reception will follow all three lectures.

The Life of Stars

12/4, 5 and 6

Helene Flohic, Assistant Professor
Physics

Stars are born and die on very long timescales, but using observations of star clusters and stellar evolution models, astrophysicists are able to understand the different stages of a star's life. From its birth in a stellar nursery to its "mid-life crisis" and to its death in a fiery (or failed) explosion, Helene Flohic will lead a conversation about the tools used by astrophysicists to understand stellar evolution. We will also learn how past generations of stars are crucial to life itself.

The Music of the Magnificent Seven

12/12 · 3:30–5pm

Keith Hatscheck, Program Director
Music Management and Music Industry Studies

JANET LEIGH THEATRE ONLY

Elmer Bernstein's iconic music for the film The Magnificent Seven is one of the most treasured movie scores in Hollywood history. Among the more than 200 films and TV shows he scored, the bold themes he created for this classic 1960 Western stand tall as iconic representations of the battle between good and evil at the heart of the story. A pre-screening lecture will present the main musical themes used in the film. Audience members will have the opportunity to "keep score" of the main themes and types of music used by Bernstein. This will allow audience members to develop a better understanding of how well-crafted movie music effectively enhances the film's narrative.

Baseball: America’s Game, Art and Objects from the Bank of America
10/26 · 1pm
$10 Members · $20 Non Members
HAGGIN MUSEUM
1201 N PERSHING AVE, STOCKTON
This Fall the Haggin Museum will host an exhibition of stunning photographs by country music star, Marty Stuart. American Ballads: The Photographs of Marty Stuart will include 60 black-and-white photographs that showcase Stuart’s ability to tell stories through his craft. Also, the Haggin Museum is pleased to partner with Bank of America this fall to present Baseball: America’s Game, Art and Objects from the Bank of America Collection. This collection celebrates baseball’s place in the American story. Join us for a docent tour of both exhibits.

Michael David Winery Tasting and Tour (11256)
10/27 · 1pm
$10 Members · $20 Non Members
4580 W HIGHWAY 12, LODI
“Michael” and “David” are Michael and David Phillips, brothers whose family has farmed fruits and vegetables in the Lodi region since the 1850s, cultivating wine grapes for nearly a century. The wine tasting will start in the new private tasting room with a designated server. The special menu will include 7 different well-known and reserve wines. Most people know Michael David Winery for their outstanding wines and care-free labels that adorn them. However when you visit them in Lodi, you’ll quickly realize they are so much more than just a winery! With an on-site eatery, The Farm Cafe, retail store focused on seasonal, gourmet produce, and award winning bakery, there’s something for everyone.

Old Town Sacramento Underground Tour (11263)
10/28 · 9am–4pm
$55 Members · $90 Non Members
Maximum: 20
SACRAMENTO
Come see and learn how Sacramento lifted itself out of the flood waters during the 1860s and 1870s! Tour guides explain how the streets and buildings were “Jacked Up!” to avoid further flooding as visitors explore two spaces that were created by the city's successful raising process. This historical tour includes hollow sidewalks, sloped alleyways, and the Underground spaces themselves. The colorful cast of Old Sac guides ensures no two tours are ever the same! Enjoy an organized no host lunch in Old Sac. Transportation provided with departure and return to Pacific campus.

Downtown Public Art Tour (11258)
11/2 · 1–3pm
$10 Members · $20 Non Members
Maximum: 23
DOWNTOWN STOCKTON
See Stockton through public art. Did you know the significance of the art that surrounds the city of Stockton? Stockton Arts Commissioner Marie Lorraine Mallare-Jimenez will take you on a guided tour to several public art pieces that depict Stockton’s history. This 2 hour tour will open your eyes to our great city. Transportation provided with departure and return to Pacific campus.

University of the Pacific Art Collection Tour (11260)
11/3 · 10am–Noon
$5 Members · $10 Non Members
Lisa Cooperman, University Curator
PACIFIC CAMPUS
Join us on a two hour comfortable guided walking tour across campus and through the hallways and corridors that double as exhibit space for the University’s diverse art collections.

Calaveras Big Trees State Park Tour (11265)
11/4 · 10am–5pm
$15 Members · $30 Non Members
You’ll enjoy a guided tour through the North Grove’s gentle, well-marked loop about 1 ½ miles long in one of California’s magnificent historical groves. The North Grove offers viewing of Sugar Pines, White Fir, Incense Cedar and Ponderosa Pines in their natural settings. Inside the grove you will find markers along the trail that explain and give the history of some of the more spectacular trees such as the Three Graces of Greek Mythology, The Pioneer Cabin Tree, The Abraham Lincoln Tree, The Sacrificial Tree, The Father of the Forest, Old Bachelor Tree, Siamese Twins and the Granite State Tree. Comfortable fall hiking attire and closed toe shoes highly recommended. Carpool and ride share arrangements will be coordinated through the OLLI office.
