LEARNING FOR THE LOVE OF IT!

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute (OLLI) is a program for lifelong learners age 50 or better who are eager to explore traditional and new areas of knowledge without exams or grades. Distinguished Pacific faculty, retired teachers, community professionals and members simply passionate about a subject they know well enjoy sharing their expertise with members whose life experiences enrich the exchange of ideas.

With convenient locations in Stockton and Lodi, OLLI offers a unique way to explore new topics, discuss current events, develop artistic skills, network with community members, and take day trips. Joining OLLI@Pacific means discovering new friends, new knowledge, and new ways to bring meaning and enjoyment to your life.

From arts and culture to health and science, there’s something for all of our members. Offering affordable short-term educational experiences, leadership and volunteer opportunities for older adults, OLLI seeks to foster intellectual exploration, new interests, and personal development through academic pursuits and to provide community in which to gather. OLLI@Pacific is one of 119 Osher Institutes from Maine to Hawaii. Reach out and explore your world, join OLLI@Pacific today!

North Korea Under the Kims: The Longevity of a Cold War Relic
Daniel O’Neill, PhD, Assistant Professor Political Science
9/21, 22 and 23
Since the end of the Korean War, the South has developed into a model wealthy democracy. The North, on the other hand, appears to have changed little; it remains a very poor, totalitarian state ruled by the grandson of its founder, Kim Il-sung. We will examine how the Kim’s North Korea has survived despite such paradigmatic changes in the region as the end of the Cold War, democratization, globaliza- tion, and the rise of China.

Cuba’s Music and Culture
Simon Rowe, PhD, Ex. Director Brubeck Institute
Fri 9/25 3:00-4:30pm
O’Connor Woods
Having returned from a trip to Cuba, which coincided with a Havana Jazz Festival and Raul Castro and Barak Obama’s diplomatic conversation, Dr. Rowe will discuss Cuban life, music, and culture.

Exercise for Brain and Body Fitness
FREE, OPEN TO THE PUBLIC
Preeti D. Oza, PT, PhD, NCS, Assistant Professor, Physical Therapy
9/28 and 29 ONLY
Neurogenesis, i.e., building new brain cells is possible at any age. Research shows that the proper kind of brain and body exercises have profound effects on the way we age. Physical exercise is not only important for our body’s health, it also helps our brain stay sharp. Dr. Oza will present the latest research along with exercises for brain and body fitness.

Water: too Little, too Far, too Much, too Dirty
Will Price, PhD Operations and Engineering Management
10/5 and 7 ONLY
Water is a precious resource where control of its consumption is a basis for “war” between governments, regions, and neighbors. With a focus on California, this presentation addresses the four “toos” in the title. Is California in a desert or drought? Do we live too far from water or too close? Why do we waste flood flows and fail to prevent flooding? What causes dirty water and should we clean/recycle it?

The Legal Principles Affecting Decisions at the End of Life
John Sims, Professor of Law McGeorge School of Law
10/6 ONLY
Oregon has for some years allowed physicians, under strict limits, to prescribe medication to assist terminally ill patients to end their lives. The California Legislature is considering a similar proposal. There is substantial support for the measure, and also strong opposition, based on moral principles and on fears of abuse. This debate raises a number of interesting constitutional issues, and also calls for renewed attention to the use of advance directives for health care, and the medical issues raised by palliative care for extreme pain.

Death Valley: A Land of Extremes
Jim Murch, Amateur Photographer, Explorer
10/12, 13 and 14
California’s remote, beautiful, and foreboding Death Valley has colorful rocks and canyons, miles of pristine sand dunes, peaks reaching to the blue sky, and unique evaporative salt features. If you are curious why people visit this land of extremes, stunning photographs and unique features will reveal the treasures in this National Park.

Nazi Hunger Politics: Food and Genocide during WWII
Gesine Gerhard, PhD, Associate Dean and Director of General Education
10/19, 20 and 21
Food played a central role for the Nazi regime. The Nazis used food to keep up morale, to prepare Germany for war, and as the foundation of a racial ideology that justified the murder of millions of Jews, prisoners of war, and Slavs. Her new book, Food in the Third Reich is soon to be released.

California’s Delta: 1850-2015
William R. Swagerty, PhD, Professor of History and Director of the John Muir Center and Reuben W. Smith, PhD, Professor Emeritus History, Former Graduate School Dean
10/26, 27 and 28
One of the world’s largest natural riparian wetlands, California’s Delta has undergone profound change in the last century and a half. Habitat to many species, and home to Native Americans for centuries, forces of change dramatically altered the ecology and human demography beginning with the Gold Rush. The Delta played a pivotal role in the development of Sacramento and Stockton as gateways to the Central Valley and the gold country. Steamboats, dredges, tractors, and trucks are interlinked with changes in specialty crops, ethnic communities, and recreational uses of this unique environment—Eden to some; flood hazard to others—as the entire region is dependent on its water.
Italian Art: Beauty, Balance, and Innovation
Deanna Hunt, MFA
11/2, 3 and 4
Explore the styles, movements, artists, philosophies, and cultural context of Italian art from antiquity to the 20th century. As an overview of major Italian artists and works, we will discuss characteristics, consistencies, influences, and innovations which have earned Italy its reputation for having generated some of the greatest artists and artworks in the world.

How Inequality Continues to Torment America
Gene Bigler, PhD, Retired Visiting Professor
Part 1: 11/9, 10 and 11
Part 2: 11/16, 17 and 18
Part 3: 11/23 and 24 ONLY
As the income inequality that we have been exploring in OLLI programs for nearly a decade continues to mount, we will explore three new areas: the potential impact on crime and criminality; whether it has influenced the recent wave of police violence against minorities, especially African-Americans; and another magnum opus from Robert D. Putnam, Our Kids: The American Dream in Crisis (Simon and Schuster, 2015).

We play Dizios, Qwirkle, Mexican Train, and more. OLLI has a small library of games as well. This is the group for anyone interested in board games, from people completely new to the world of modern board games to veterans who have lost entire weekends to Dominos, Gin Rummy, or Canasta.
Introduction to Conversational Spanish

Carmen Hercules, MS, Adjunct Spanish Instructor

10436 | $50
---
Tue and Thu 9/22 to 10/29
4:30-6pm
PDC 330
(6 weeks – meets twice weekly)
Class size: 30

Enjoy a simple learning process of a new language through group activities and visual engagements. This course is geared to those who would like to discover and understand the diverse culture among the Spanish population. The course provides essential words and concepts that will help you form sentences at your own pace and eventually carry a conversation. Exposure to real conversation allows you to learn naturally and it can be helpful as you travel to Spanish speaking countries.

A Natural History of the Golden State

Jeffrey A. Hart, PhD

10437 | $40
---
Thu 10/22 to 11/12 | 1-3pm
PDC 330
(4 weeks) Class size: 40

Designed to rekindle the delight that may be lost amid today’s environmental concerns and political differences regarding the role of nature and resources, this course is both a wide-angled and focused look at California’s nature. Several broad topics integrate the understanding of California nature: geography and the role of environment; the inherent biological makeup of particular groups of organisms, and the place of evolutionary history. California’s plants and animals make up a cast of characters that uniquely interact with the physical and biological world. To that end, we explore the histories and biological connections of California’s life of plants, fish, reptiles, birds, and mammals. Like personalities in a Dickens novel, the different taxonomic characters are biological personalities with unique histories and behaviors. An avid photographer, Hart shares his experiences, thoughts, and images.

Journey of the Hero/Heroin in Film

Patti McCarthy, PhD, Visiting Assistant Professor, Film Producer

10438 | $30
---
Thu 9/24 to 10/8 | 11am-1pm
PDC 330
(3 weeks) Class size: 40

We love our heroes from Greek mythology to present day favorites like Frodo, Harry Potter, and Luke Skywalker and our heroines – Katniss, Alice, Elsa, and Clarisse. Learn what it takes to be a strong hero/heroine and how these stories connect on a deep mythic level with a film audience. In the last of the three classes, the focus is on George Lucas as the hero of his own amazing tale. He escaped “the ranch,” traveled to Los Angeles, and stood up to the “evil” Hollywood Empire to become one of the most influential filmmakers of all time. Based on research in her book, The Lucas Effect: George Lucas and the New Hollywood, Professor McCarthy will trace his early days in Modesto to his epic rise as visionary filmmaker.

Literature: Book Discussions

The Aftermath by Rhidian Brook

Helen Gross, Former Educator

10434 Thu 10/1 | 1-2:30pm
First United Methodist Church, Lodi

This year marks the 75th year of the start of the occupation of Germany. This novel, with its vignettes of war-torn Hamburg, is written from the British/German perspective and brings to life a little-told aspect of WWII. The protagonist of Brook’s novel, Col. Lewis Morgan, has been assigned to supervise rebuilding and denazification within the British-controlled district encompassing Hamburg. Morgan, when shown the mansion requisitioned for him, proposes something unorthodox. Rather than send the current German residents to their fates as displaced persons, he suggests they share the house with his family. The situation is ripe for conflict and betrayals, and Brook provides enough of both to keep the plot moving.

10452 $170
Tue 9/22 to 11/24 | 1:20-3:50pm
Powell Art Center
(10 weeks) Registration Deadline: 9/16

This class is designed to enhance, improve, and increase watercolor skills. Students will discover how to make bright, loose, free-flowing paintings filled with light and color using transparent watercolor. With emphasis on pigment and color theory, value and application techniques, students will learn to create interpretive florals, landscapes, abstractions, and subject matter of personal meaning. Class time includes lecture, demonstration, studio practice, critique, individual, and group instruction.

Advanced Watercolor Explorations
Deanna Hunt, MFA
Section I:

10454 $170
Fri 9/25 to 11/20 | 1:30-4:30pm
and Sat 11/7 | 10am-1pm
Powell Art Center
(9 weeks) Registration Deadline: 9/17

Both of these ten session courses are designed for artists interested in furthering their knowledge and command of transparent and opaque watercolor and mixed media. Through lectures, demonstrations, studio practice, individual and group instruction and critiques, students will learn advanced level approaches and techniques to the media. We will explore a variety of styles and contemporary art concepts. Special emphasis will be placed on design and dramatic use of color and value. Pioneer OLLI artists as well as new-to-OLLI members create in this vibrant environment, where learning, work, and community building all merge as one.

Beginning Watercolor
Jean Janssen, Artist and Instructor

10453 $90
Wed 9/23 to 11/11
9-noon
Holy Cross United Methodist Church
1200 W Hammer Lane
(8 weeks) Registration Deadline: 9/16

Learning traditional and fresh techniques, this class is designed for beginners as Jean guides you through many watercolor painting techniques. You will learn how to maximize the unpredictability of the watercolor medium to create beautiful and spontaneous paintings. If you ever wanted to nurture your creative abilities through an art class but did not know where to begin, Jean will help you develop spontaneous watercolor techniques while you enhance your own intuitive approach to painting. She makes painters of all skill levels feel comfortable in learning something new.

Mark your calendar for a special painting event on Saturday, October 17: Homecoming Plein Air Painting, open to all OLLI Artists! Learn more in Deanna’s OLLI Art Classes!

Bird Safari: Stockton Wetlands

David Yee, Avian Expert, Author

10460  $15
Thu 10/29 | 10am-noon
Port of Stockton Expressway
Registration Deadline: 10/22

The tertiary treatment ponds at water treatment facilities around the world have long been known to attract large numbers of birds. Several have transformed some of their ponds into wetlands to more economically and efficiently treat waste-water, as well as to better conserve and be environmentally wise. The ponds at the Stockton facility are some of the largest in the world, and they have made one into an amazing wetland. Many species of waterbirds utilize the wetland year round, and it is one of the best spots in the county to observe them up close. By October most of our wintering ducks will be present in the wetlands, as well as several species of shorebirds. We can also expect a wide variety of waders, including egrets, herons, ibis, and if we’re lucky the elusive Virginia and Sora rails.

Bird Safari: SJ River National Wildlife Refuge

David Yee, Avian Expert, Author

10461  $15
Thu 11/12 | 10am-noon
Beckwith Viewing Platform, Modesto
Registration Deadline: 11/6

This refuge was recently set up to protect the at-the-time endangered Aleutian Cackling Goose. The refuge has been a huge success, and this goose is no longer listed. The refuge is home to large numbers of wintering cranes, geese, ducks, and numerous songbirds. It now rivals the more established refuges above Sacramento and below Merced in terms of bird numbers and ease of detection. The boardwalks through the refuge allow for easy access and observations, and the overall scenery through the marshes is a peek into how the Central Valley looked in centuries past.
