EVENTS:

PACIFIC OPERA THEATRE
"PATIENCE: A GILBERT AND SULLIVAN OPERETTA"
March 25, 26, 27 • 8 pm
March 28 • 2 pm
Comic opera of love and rivalry. Tickets: $17 for general admission; $15 for Pacific faculty and students; and $12 for seniors.

CONSERVATORY CONCERTS

• “SOUNDIMAGESOUND VI”
March 26 • 7:30 pm
Recital Hall
Intermedia performance of work created through technology, that blends sound and visual images

• RESIDENT ARTIST SERIES
March 30 • 7:30 pm
Faye Spanos Concert Hall
Pacific Arts Woodwind Quintet

• UNIVERSITY CONCERT BAND
March 31 • 7:30 pm
Faye Spanos Concert Hall
Unless otherwise indicated, tickets are $7 for general admission, $5 for seniors, and children under 12 and students with ID are free.

REYNOLDS GALLERY EVENTS

• “KAY KANG: RESONANCE”
Exhibit through April 12
Reynolds Gallery

• “A PICTURE...A THOUSAND WORDS”
April 9 • 7 pm
Jeannette Powell Art Center, Room 209
Lecture by Terri Cohn, San Francisco Art Institute.

Gallery hours: M–F, 8:30 am – 4:30 pm; Saturdays and Sundays, 1–5 pm. Events are free and open to the public.

PACIFIC TO LAUNCH “ENOUGH IS ENOUGH” ANTI-VIOLENCE CAMPAIGN

Students and staff at Pacific will explore different approaches to reducing violence as part of the national “Enough is Enough” campaign, April 6–9. The events will include lectures, a fundraiser for the Women’s Shelter of San Joaquin County, and a ceremony to recognize San Joaquin County residents who have taken steps to reduce violence in their neighborhoods. All events will be in the DeRosa University Center.

“Enough is Enough” was initiated by NASPA, the largest national organization for those who work in student affairs administration, in response to the Virginia Tech shootings. It combines the resources of colleges and universities, K-12 schools and various community agencies to reduce societal violence. Pacific was selected by NASPA to serve as a model school for “Enough is Enough” as the first school to host the program.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 3
NOTEWORTHY

Alison Hope Alkon, Sociology, was a co-author on the report “Food Policy Councils: Lessons Learned” which was released by the Food First Institute for Food & Development Policy.

Cary Bricker, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, had her article “Revisiting the Crime Fraud Exception to the Attorney-Client Privilege: A Proposal to Remedy the Disparity in Protections for Civil and Criminal Privilege Holders” published in the Temple Law Review.

Jerry Caplan, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, chaired a panel session on “Catch and Release: When Should Contract Law Let a Party off the Hook and When Should It Reel Them In?” at the annual AALS Conference on Contracts hosted by the UNLV William S. Boyd School of Law in Las Vegas.

Peg Ciccolella, Sport Sciences, and Linda Sharp of the University of Northern Colorado presented the paper “Knight v. Jewett: The Misinterpretation of California Sport and Activity Cases” at the annual conference of the Sport and Recreation Law Association held in Albuquerque, N.M.

Michael Colatrella, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, presented “Cutting the Cost of Conflict by Creating a Dispute-Wise Organization” at a conference on “Conflict Resolution and the Economic Crisis” at UNLV’s William S. Boyd School of Law, which was co-sponsored by the Saltman Center for Conflict Resolution and several Clark County nonprofits.

Marjorie Florestal, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, spoke at Sacramento State University on post-earthquake Haiti and the important role international trade can play in moving that country forward.

Mathew Le, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, presented at the Law School Admissions Council Forum in Oakland on the panel “What Do Lawyers Do?”

Thom Main, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, presented the paper “Word Commons” at St. Mary’s University School of Law in San Antonio as part of that Texas school’s faculty enrichment series.

Todd Davenport, Physical Therapy; Chris Snell and Mark VanNess, Sport Sciences; and Staci Stevens, Director of the Pacific Fatigue Lab, published the paper “A Conceptual Model for Evidence-Based Physical Therapist Management of Chronic Fatigue Syndrome/Myalgic Encephalomyelitis” in the journal Practice in Physical Therapy. Snell, VanNess and Stevens, along with former graduate student Travis Stiles, published the paper “Post-Exertional Malaise in Women with Chronic Fatigue Syndrome” in the Journal of Women’s Health.

Dean Margee Ensign, School of International Studies, gave a keynote address at Brown University on her book “Rwanda History and Hope;” for an interdisciplinary conference on genocide and post-genocide societies.

Arturo Giraldez, Modern Languages and Literatures and School of International Studies, lectured on “China History and the World Economy Today” at Saint Olaf College, Minn., sponsored by the Kloeck-Jenson Endowment for Peace and Justice.

Leslie Jacobs, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, spoke about “Government Persuasion on Product Labels” at the 17th annual Ira C. Rothgerber, Jr. Conference on Constitutional Law in Denver, co-sponsored by the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Courtney Lee, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, had her article “Find Them on Facebook: Using Facebook to Reach Students Where They Already Go” appear in the Fall 2009 issue of The Learning Curve, the national publication for Academic Success professionals.

Larry Levine, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, spoke on “Transgender Issues in Employment Law” at a luncheon hosted by the Sacramento County Bar Association Labor and Employment Section in Sacramento.

Pete Schroeder, Sport Sciences, had his article “Changing Team Culture: The Perspective of Ten Successful Head Coaches” published in the Journal of Sport Behavior.

Michael P. Malloy, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, was asked by the Editor-in-Chief of Black’s Law Dictionary to serve on the classic reference work’s Panel of Academic Contributors. He will be concentrating on entries concerning banking, international law and regulation, literature, and philosophy for the Tenth Edition of the dictionary. Malloy delivered a lecture on “Assessing Professional Competence: Lessons from Med Ed” at the Duquesne University Law School in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Anne Marie Marciarille, Pacific McGeorge School of Law, chaired a cross-professional seminar at the MIND Institute on the UC Davis Med School campus in Sacramento that focused on problems arising from medically fragile children attending school in conflict with local school systems.

Carrie Schroeder, Religious and Classical Studies, was selected as a winner of the distinguished Graves Award in the humanities for 2010–2011. The grant money will support research toward her book about children in 4th and 5th century Christian ascetic and monastic environments. The Graves Award, issued biennially, was established to reward “outstanding accomplishment in teaching in the humanities by younger faculty members.” Schroeder’s article “Children in Early Egyptian Monasticism” was published in “Children in Late Ancient Christianity,” edited by Cornelia Horn and Robert Phenix, and published by Mohr Siebeck.

Alana Schulman ’12 and Heather Silva ’12, Benerd School of Education presented a student-led session on chapter recruitment strategies in San Antonio, Texas and assisted in building homes for Habitat for Humanity while attending the 65th Annual Conference of the Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development.

CONTINUED ON PAGE 4
BRUBECK FESTIVAL CELEBRATES “10 YEARS OF THE BRUBECK INSTITUTE”

Famed jazz bassist Christian McBride returns to Pacific in April to celebrate a decade of the Brubeck Institute. McBride, first artistic director of the Institute and a member of its Honorary Board, will be joined by outstanding alumni of the Summer Jazz Colony, the Institute’s Fellowship Program and other guest artists during the four-day event.

“In the past ten years, the Brubeck Institute has accomplished extraordinary things,” said Steve Anderson, institute director. “The Festival is recognized nationally and internationally, the students in the Summer Jazz Colony and Fellowship Program have become recognized as exceptional jazz artists, and the Brubeck Collection is being widely used by students, faculty, and visiting scholars from around the world.”

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE BRUBECK FESTIVAL

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>April 8</td>
<td>3 pm</td>
<td>Library, Taylor Conference Room</td>
<td>Academic Symposium on the use of the Brubeck Collection and the Paul Desmond Papers in scholarship and teaching</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 8</td>
<td>7:30 pm</td>
<td>Faye Spanos Concert Hall</td>
<td>2007 Brubeck Institute Jazz Quintet with saxophonist Bob Mintzer</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 9</td>
<td>7:30 pm</td>
<td>Faye Spanos Concert Hall</td>
<td>2009 BIJQ with trumpet, Gilbert Castellanos.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 10</td>
<td>2 pm</td>
<td>Recital Hall</td>
<td>Academic Symposium on contemporary jazz education</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 10</td>
<td>7:30 pm</td>
<td>Faye Spanos Concert Hall</td>
<td>2010 Brubeck Institute Jazz Quintet with bassist Christian McBride and The Yosvany Terry Quartet</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>April 11</td>
<td>1 pm</td>
<td>Pacific Avenue at Tuxedo</td>
<td>Jazz on the Mile, featuring local and regional jazz performers.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Purchase concert tickets at the Pacific Box Office, online at http://go.Pacific.edu/Tickets, or at the door. Tickets for Jazz on the Mile available at the door. For more event and ticket information, visit www.BrubeckFestival.org.

“ENOUGH IS ENOUGH” CONTINUED

“There is a growing concern among parents, students and communities about the rising reports of violence,” says Elizabeth Griego, vice president of student life at Pacific and the current president of NASPA. “By supplying our students with knowledge about how to prevent violence, we hope the entire community will become safer.”

The campaign will kick off with a student art show and a presentation by “Kelly and Becca,” two women who have a traveling show that focuses on different aspects of sexual assault. Other highlights of the week include a “donate a meal to reduce violence” fund-raiser for the Women’s Shelter of San Joaquin County, a play by Naomi Ackerman, an exploration of all the factors that can lead to violence called “Conflict: Everyone Plays a Role,” and the screening of a documentary about violence.

Pacific is partnering with several community organizations, including the Women’s Shelter of San Joaquin and Cleveland Elementary School which was the site of a schoolyard shooting two decades ago. Several survivors of the shooting will participate in one of the event panels.

For more information and a complete schedule for “Enough is Enough,” visit http://go.pacific.edu/Enough.

AUTHOR BILL MCKIBBEN TO KICK-OFF PACIFIC’S SUSTAINABILITY MONTH

Nationally recognized journalist, author and environmentalist Bill McKibben will be the headline speaker for Pacific’s “Sustainability Month” events. He will speak at the Donald and Karen DeRosa University Center Ballroom at 7 pm on March 25. It is free and open to the public.

McKibben, co-founder of international climate organization 350.org, is a frequent contributor to publications such as The New York Times, The Atlantic Monthly and Outside. He has written several books about the environmental movement, including the 2007 national best seller “Deep Economy: the Wealth of Communities and the Durable Future.”

Other events scheduled from March 25 through April 25 include a Stockton campus-wide recycling competition for students, a two-day symposium on John Muir that will feature several prominent authors, an Eat Local Challenge and an Earth Day Festival.

HIGHLIGHTS OF SUSTAINABILITY MONTH:

April 19–26

EARTH WEEK

Students for Environmental Action will put on a week-long series of events to celebrate Earth Day (April 20) to let students and employees know what actions they can take to reduce waste and save the environment.

April 21

JOHN MUIR’S BIRTHDAY

Author and environmentalist Rick Bass will be visiting Pacific on John Muir’s 171st birthday. Bass will read from his work and speak about his involvement in the conservation of the Yaak Valley in northwestern Montana in the Pacific Theatre at 7 pm. This event is free.

April 23–24

58th ANNUAL CALIFORNIA HISTORY INSTITUTE

The symposium will focus on John Muir, with presentations by authors Donald Worster, Bonnie Geisel and Graham White, lectures from numerous professors from universities across the U.S., and a speech by Royal Robbins, founder of the outdoor clothing company that carries his name. Tickets are $70 for both days, including lunch and two receptions. For information, contact wswagerty@pacific.edu.
Faculty, students, and alumni of the Thomas J. Long School of Pharmacy and Health Sciences Department of Physical Therapy made a variety of contributions to the Combined Sections Meeting of the American Physical Therapy Association in San Diego, Calif. A record 75 alumni, current students, and friends attended a reception hosted by the Department.

Katrin Mattern-Baxter presented “The Effects of Intensive Treadmill Training on Toddlers and Preschoolers with Cerebral Palsy.”

Sandy Bellamy ’97, ’99 was elected Region I Director for the Pediatric Section of the American Physical Therapy Association. Bellamy presented “Interdisciplinary Educational Model Used to Identify the Physical Therapist’s Role in the Development and Transfer of Assistive Technology: From the Clinic to Research and the Commercial Market.” She also presented the poster “Initial Recognition, Management, and Clinical Outcomes of Patients with Wolff-Parkinson White Syndrome: Case Series.”

Seven alumni, including part-time faculty member Katie Graves ’03, were recognized with clinical specialist certification this year from the American Board of Physical Therapy Specialties.

Jodi Nance ’90, ’03, Physical Therapy, presented the poster “A Supervisor-Led Exercise Program Decreases the Incidence of Work Injuries in a Cohort of Agricultural-Industrial Workers.” Co-authors included Todd Davenport, Stephanie Stewart ’09 and Brittany Yates ’09.

Todd Davenport was elected to the Nominating Committee of the Foot and Ankle Special Interest Group. He presented the poster “Subjective Responses to a Repeated Maximal Exercise Test Paradigm in Individuals with Chronic Fatigue Syndrome and Non-Disabled Individuals.” Co-authors included Mark Van Ness, Chris Snell and Katie Baroni ’11, Physical Therapy, and Staci Stevens, Sport Sciences. Davenport co-authored five other presentations with colleagues from Pacific and other institutions and assisted in revising the orthopedic clinical specialist examination in his position with the Specialization Academy of Content Experts of the American Board of Physical Therapy Specialties.

Katie Graves ’03, Physical Therapy, presented “Development of Clinical Reasoning Skills in Physical Therapy Students Through Structured Academic Coursework in the Context of Pro Bono Client Care: An Education Case Study.” Co-authors were Sandy Bellamy and Todd Davenport.

Christy Wilson, as chair of the Research Committee of the APTA Cardiovascular and Pulmonary Section, moderated 15 platform presentations, attended the Section’s Board meeting, reported at the Cardiovascular and Pulmonary Section business meeting, and reviewed over 20 platform and poster presentations for the Section’s research awards.

Tanya Storch, Religious and Classical Studies, will have her collection of religious spiritual poetry published in the magazine Blue Moon: Literary and Artistic Review. She also did the Buddhist poetry translations from the medieval Korean to Russian for the Russian translation of the Korean novel, “The Nebulous Dream of the Nine,” which is being reprinted this month in St. Petersburg, Russia.

Lisa Tromovitch and Gary Armagnac, Theatre Arts, taught the workshop “What’s Old Is New Again, Working with the First Folio of Shakespeare’s Plays,” on incorporating the latest scholarship on the First Folio into Shakespearean productions as part of the Kennedy Center American College Theatre Festival in Reno, Nev.

Jerry Tsai, with Archana Chavan ’13, Chemistry, with postdoctoral fellow Hyun Joo, presented a poster on their work in modeling protein structure “Characterizing the Backbone Conformational Dependencies of Residues Using Molecular Dynamics Simulation,” and presented “Discovering common tetrahedral packing motifs in proteins” with postdoctoral fellow Ryan Day at the 2010 Biophysical Society Meeting in San Francisco.