

Immunization Compliance Deadline:

Before attending your first class

All students attending classes on any of Pacific's three Campuses must provide proof of immunizations and be fully compliant with the University of the Pacific guidelines before attending their first class.

Review the requirements

Go to go.pacific.edu/immunizationcompliance to view Health and Immunization requirements applicable to your major.

Gather your records

Contact your parent/guardian, doctor, high school, health center of undergrad, military, etc. If you can't find any documents, request blood tests called titers from your medical provider or from Student Health Services.

Use the medical portal

Log In go.pacific.edu/myhealth to access your medical clearances. Enter your immunizations. Complete Online Forms. Upload your immunization record.

Check your secure messages

You will receive emails from Student Health Services stating a secure message is waiting for you. Read these. They will contain critical information about your status.

Schedule an appointment

If you need assistance going over your records, to update some vaccines, or get blood tests for immunity schedule an appointment with your provider or with Student Health Services.

Deadline and penalty

The Immunization Requirement and Tuberculosis Screening must be completed prior to attending your first class at Pacific. Failure to comply will result in a registration hold which prevents you from registering for the next semester's classes.
